As Rocco delves deeper into the investigation, he uncovers a complex web of secrets, rivalries, and hidden agendas among the estate's inhabitants.

The Dubois family, torn apart by greed and old grudges, becomes the prime focus of his inquiries.

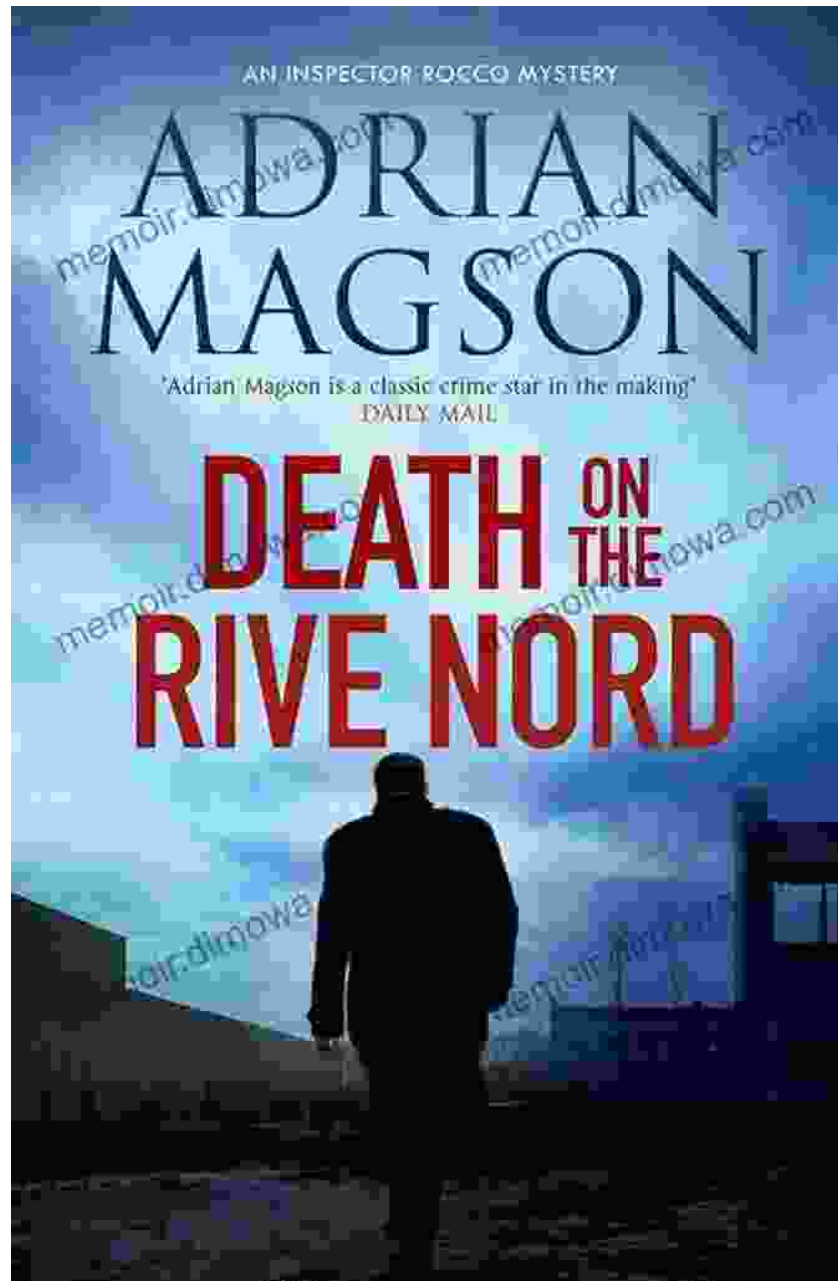

Emmanuel Dubois, the victim's ambitious son, stands to inherit the family fortune but harbors a deep resentment towards his father. His wife, Sophie, a cunning and manipulative woman, seems to have her own motives and secrets. Meanwhile, the estate's enigmatic cellar master, Pierre Dubois, becomes a person of interest with his shady past and questionable motives.

Rocco's investigation takes him through the opulent halls of the chateau, down into the labyrinthine cellars where the estate's prized vintages are stored, and into the lives of the people who work and live at Clos du Lac. As he pieces together the puzzle, he uncovers a trail of betrayal, deceit, and long-held grievances.

With each revelation, the list of suspects grows, and Rocco finds himself navigating a treacherous path filled with red herrings and false leads. The boundaries between truth and deception blur, and Rocco must rely on his instincts and razor-sharp intellect to separate fact from fiction.
