When 17-year-old Jessica "Jessie" Johnson tries out for her high school football team, she's met with resistance from her coach, her teammates, and even her own family. But Jessie is determined to prove that she has what it takes to play the game she loves.

With the help of her friends and a few unlikely allies, Jessie sets out to prove her worth. She trains harder than anyone else, studies the game film, and works tirelessly to improve her skills. And as she does, she begins to earn the respect of her teammates and coaches.

But Jessie's journey is far from over. She must overcome challenges on and off the field, including sexism, racism, and homophobia. But through it all, she never gives up on her dream of playing football.
