Self-Drive Routes

There are four main self-drive routes in Pilanesberg National Park:

- Black Rhino Route: This is the shortest and easiest of the self-drive routes, covering a distance of 20km. It is ideal for families with young children, as it offers frequent wildlife sightings and easy access to picnic spots.

- Blue Wildebeest Route: This route is slightly longer than the Black Rhino Route, covering a distance of 25km. It offers a good mix of open grasslands and bushveld, and is known for its sightings of blue wildebeest, zebra, and giraffe.
- Red Hartebeest Route: This is the longest of the self-drive routes, covering a distance of 30km. It takes you through the heart of the park, and offers the best chance to see a variety of wildlife, including lions, elephants, rhinos, and buffalos.
- Sunset Route: This route is only open during the summer months, and offers a unique opportunity to see the sunset over the park. It is a shorter route, covering a distance of 15km, and is ideal for those who want to enjoy a leisurely drive and soak up the scenery.

Road Conditions

The roads in Pilanesberg National Park are generally well-maintained, but they can be rough in some places. It is important to drive slowly and carefully, especially during the rainy season. Four-wheel drive vehicles are recommended, but not essential.

Wildlife Sightings

Pilanesberg National Park is home to a wide variety of wildlife, including the Big Five (lions, elephants, rhinos, buffalos, and leopards). Other common sightings include zebras, giraffes, wildebeest, hippos, and crocodiles.

Scenic Highlights

In addition to its wildlife, Pilanesberg National Park is also known for its beautiful scenery. The park is home to a number of hills and valleys, as well as several lakes and dams. The best time to visit the park is during the dry season (April to October), when the vegetation is less dense and the wildlife is more easily spotted.

Tips for Self-Driving

- Plan your route in advance.
- Start your drive early in the morning or late in the afternoon, when the wildlife is most active.
- Drive slowly and carefully, especially during the rainy season.
- Be aware of your surroundings and watch for wildlife.
- Stop at the designated picnic spots to enjoy your lunch or snacks.
- Respect the park's rules and regulations.
