In the book Spirit Man Jinn, Ahmed Hulusi explores the nature of the human spirit and its relationship to the jinn. The book is a rich and detailed exploration of the spiritual world, drawing on both Islamic and Sufi traditions. Hulusi argues that the human spirit is not simply a product of the physical body, but rather a separate and distinct entity that exists beyond the realm of time and space.

The jinn, Hulusi explains, are a race of intelligent beings that were created from fire. They are invisible to humans, but they can interact with the physical world in a variety of ways. Hulusi argues that the jinn are not inherently evil, but rather that they are simply different from humans. He stresses the importance of respecting the jinn and living in harmony with them.
